

Boys and Girls

Ages 2 years – 3 years

Objective: The child will be able to recognize the difference between boys and girls after seeing pictures.

Materials needed:

Boys and Girls (printable)

Child-friendly magazine (I.e. Parents Magazine)

Procedures:

1. Sit with your child on the floor or table.
2. Cut each of the boys and girls cards individually. Stack them like flashcards.
3. Go through each one and ask your child if it associates with a boy or a girl. Ask your child to say the word after you, saying "boy or girl" when shown the picture.
4. After you have gone through all of the cards, teaching whether it is a boy or girl in the picture association, ask your child "if they are a boy or girl" and "what you are?" (I.e. "Mommy is a girl and daddy is a boy.") Make the connection for your child to fully understand.

Ages 2 years—3 years

5. After looking at the picture cards, have your child tell you things that associate with a boy and things that associate with a girl. Such as, trucks are for boys and dolls are for girls. Build comprehension in thinking by asking questions.

6. Extension Activity: After you have gone through all of the picture cards, pull out a magazine that has pictures in it of people. Such as "Parents Magazine." Look through it, flipping the pages and teaching your child when you see a boy and girl. Ask child to tell you which is which.

Milestones to meet:

The child can recognize the distinction between boys and girls. The child learns about differences in gender through facial features and object associations. The child can use their words to tell whether they see a boy or a girl.
