

Objective: The child will make awareness of their surroundings and build social skills through pretend play with baby dolls.

Materials needed:

Baby dolls and/or Stuffed animals

Procedures

- 1. Sit in an open area free of any toys or distractions for your child. Sit where there is an open wall.
- 2. Begin by sitting all of the baby dolls and/or stuffed animals up against the wall facing you and your child.
- 3. Hold your child in your lap while sitting.
- 4. Start talking to your child, pointing to the dolls/animals and saying: "Look at all of your friends.

 Can you say hi? Let's count them." Point to each with your finger/arm and count.
- 5. Now let your child go. Watch to see what they do. Use words to talk to them as they explore.

- 6. Such as phrases you can tell and say to your child: "Can you give the baby a hug?"
- "We have to be so careful and nice to the baby."
- "Can you give the baby a kiss?"
- "Nice. Be gentle. We have to take care of & help our friends. This is our friend."
- 7. This kind of phrasing as they are interacting with the dolls will help build social skills to real-life beings as they get older.
- 8. Model to your child what it is you want them to do. Pick up a doll, hug it, kiss it, rock it like a baby, and use phrases as stated above to teach and tell your child what you are doing.

Milestones to meet:

The child shows interest in baby dolls. The child models awareness of how to act and treat the dolls.

Evaluation:

Did this lesson work for your child? Why or why not?